

Breakout Session #1 Choose one option

Church, Home & Community: Holistic Discipleship with Children	Effective, holistic discipleship with children involves three interconnected spaces: church, home, and community. Most ministries are stronger in some areas than others. This workshop offers a framework for exploring how these three dimensions are currently functioning in your setting and for reflecting on the strengths, connections, and gaps that emerge. Facilitated by Julie McKinnon, CCCNZ Children & Family Ministries.
Creating Leadership Development Maps	Leadership development has been recently identified as the most common challenge across our wider movement—how can we address this together? Several churches have plans in place, however, many do not have the resources for this. CCCNZ CEO Roger Osbaldiston will share some thoughts on what is already broadly available, and invite input on creating leadership development maps.
Youth Mental Health Matters: Leading with Wisdom, Courage, and Care	The latest NZ Health Survey shows 1 in 4–5 young people aged 15–24 is experiencing high or very high psychological distress, with half reporting anxiety or depression symptoms in the past year. Explore what the Bible says about mental health, suffering, hope, and caring for one another. This breakout includes a discussion with an experienced mental health worker on practical tools and skills to support our young people.
An Open Invite to an Exclusive Club? Biblical Sexuality in a Changing Culture	Navigating the subject of alternative sexualities has become one of the most fraught challenges for churches in New Zealand. One difficulty is that of offering an invitation to Christian faith that is genuinely welcoming while at the same time upholding the vision for sexuality that is pleasing to God. This session will show why churches must endeavour to do both and offer some suggestions and resources for doing so. Facilitated by Lincoln Road Bible Chapel Elder Chris Northcott.
Supporting Leaders Well: Discover the new CCCNZ Resource Library	Healthy churches require vision and passion—supported by strong systems and wise governance. This session explores the refreshed CCCNZ resource library. Find practical tools to help support you with administration, legal compliance, governance and more. Facilitated by CCCNZ National Advisor Jan De Lange.

All-Age Worship	Curious about what it looks like to bring all ages together in worship? Join Chris and Sandy Leadbeater (The Anchor Church) as they share their journey of beginning all-age Sunday services. Discover how to foster a space where everyone feels a sense of belonging, is known, heard, and able to worship together meaningfully.
Creating Leadership Development Maps	Leadership development has been recently identified as the most common challenge across our wider movement—how can we address this together? Several churches have plans in place, however, many do not have the resources for this. CCCNZ CEO Roger Osbaldiston will share some thoughts on what is already broadly available, and invite input on creating leadership development maps. (Please note this breakout is a repeat of the one in the first session).
Faith & Whakapapa: Navigating Te Ao Māori in the church.	Biblical Biculturalism? Culturally contextualised Church? We will consider the role of biculturalism in the church, reflect on how honouring whakapapa strengthens our understanding of the Gospel, and explore what it means to walk together as tangata whenua and tangata tiriti. A grounded and engaging conversation about how Faith & Whakapapa can guide the way we build relationships, practise discipleship, and serve our communities. Facilitated by Henare Whaanga, Director of Māori Christian Apologetics at Thinking Matters & Pathway Christian Centre.
Sharing the gospel in every context	Jesus' call to go and make disciples is clear and compelling—but what does that actually look like in different ministry contexts? How do we intentionally share the gospel with toddlers, youth, families, and those on the margins? Join us as we explore barriers and means of bringing gospel intentionality into a range of ministry contexts. Facilitated by Joel Birkin, Kingston Community Church.
Church Planting in Real Life	This session offers a window into a range of church planting journeys, sharing key lessons learned along the way as well as what our planters are still working through right now. From early vision and building teams to connecting with communities and launching Sunday services, this session brings together honest, behind-the-scenes insights into the realities of planting a church—the wins, the challenges, and everything in between. Facilitated by Isaac Pettersen, Crossroads Church Palmerston North.
